FINANCE AND TRADE.

FINANCE. OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, February 14, 1870. The money market for the week has The money market for the week has been moderately easy, but as a general thing Exchange has been scarce. Of the 6000 or 7000 bales of foreign cotton awaiting shipment, and aliaded to by us last week, only about 2500 bales have been signed for, so that a large amount of currency is still locked up, causing considerable embarrassment at one or two of our prominent discount houses. How long this will last, we cannot tell, as tonnage is scarce, and so far as we can learn, all efforts to secure the shipment of the that the crop will prove larger than scarce, and so far as we can learn, all efforts to secure the shipment of the remaining 4000 bales have met with noor success. Rates have ruled steady, and, at the close are firm. Eastern bills are taken readily at 1 discount, and our banks check at par as a rule, but in some instances make exceptions of $1 to $1 25 per $1.00 discount. We do not wish it understoed that all our banks are short of Exchange as some have at all times kept up good bales now that even the outside figures will hard allow that even the outside figures will hardly give more than will be required for consumption, and that the proceeds cannot fail to materially increase the prosperity of the Southern States.

COTTON IN LIVERPOOL.

The New York Financial Chronicle ister, Stump & Kidd, and Maxey & says: That the average price of cotton this season, measured in gold, has been above the price for the same pecality of, and the probable advantage of the same pecality of and the probable advantage. riod of last season, is well known to our readers. Last year the effect of the high values ruling was seen in diminished consumption. In this country, for instance, the Northern mills consumed, for spinning only, 767,512 bales, against 861,840 bales the previous year; at present their weekly consumption is still further diminished. In Great Britain the consumption of 1869 was 333,619,539 pounds since, carried freights at the following bonsid, that went trown a day of 1869 was 830,019,550 pounds (2,28,400 bales), against 906,197,100 pounds (2,801,940 bales), for 1868. Here is a falling off of 67,78,000 pounds, resulting from the higher prices. The temporary activity at Manchester during late weeks, on account of the home demand for goods, is evidently leading many to forget the inevitable working of this natural law.

Accounts from Bombay this week give information of further storms of the inevitable everity in the Comraculated that but little injury has reindicate that but little injury has reindicate that but little injury has resulted. A dispatch received states with the shipments during February and that the shipments during February in the Comraculated to the prices to Camden: Flour, $1.25; pork, $2; whisky, $2.75; corn, 70c; hay, 90c; the first the first pound freights, 75c. The Red river line has been operated successfully for some time, and charges from St. Louis are but little above those form New Orleans. These through lines, which have sprung up so suddenly and assumed proportions of magnitude, bid lair to increase in the future, until they control the basiness of supplying the Southwest with Western produce and merchandise.

Raconso—The stock is sample for the sands of an attender on the company, after time has been operated successfully for some time, and charges from St. Louis and charges from St. Louis and the first and charges from St. Louis an expectation will be realized, even if the shipments reach the figure named.

The New Orleans Tomes of Saturday says: The stock by our running statement is now 226,380 bales, against 212,244 last week, and 164,047 last year.

Those merchants who went East to purchase, have nearly all returned, and are getting everything in readiness for large receipts during the next few weeks. They have in all cases left their orders at the factories for suitable goods for the trade, and look forward to a heavy demand at an early day, as it is thought prices 60 will advance with the season. Stocks are large and well assorted, and deal-ers are making concessions on some styles. The demand is active, and
